30 minutes · Qualify for Design Partner Pilot · Do not product-tour

Goal

Decide in 30 minutes whether this account can fund a $50k / 60-day vendor-onboarding pilot. If they cannot name volume, an audit owner, and a path to budget, do not advance to SOW.

Minute 0–3 · Open

“Thanks for the time. I’ll be direct: we run a paid pilot that puts a policy gate and an audit-ready evidence pack in front of vendor onboarding. I want to learn how you approve vendors today and whether a 60-day pilot is even relevant. If it is not, we will end early.”

Minute 3–12 · Their process (you listen)

- How many new vendors or vendor-risk reviews do you run per month?
- Who must sign off today — procurement, security, risk, finance?
- When audit or risk asks “why was this vendor approved?”, what do you produce?
- Where does that break — speed, consistency, missing trail, or all three?
- Is there a spend or data-class threshold that should never be auto-approved?

Write down: volume, owner of the trail, and the failure mode they care about most.

Minute 12–18 · Fit check (three hard questions)

- “If the evidence pack satisfied risk/finance, who would sponsor a $50k pilot this quarter?”
- “Can you put at least ~25 real decisions through a gate in 60 days?”
- “What would block you from signing a short SOW in the next two weeks?”

Green lights: named sponsor, real volume, no “we only do free AI experiments.” Red lights: innovation team only, zero budget path, wants multi-workflow day one.

Minute 18–24 · Pilot in one minute (only if green)

“Pilot is $50k, 60 days, vendor onboarding only. Success is 25 live decisions, risk/finance saying the pack is usable, and no critical security blocker. If we hit that, the fee credits fully to a year-1 platform in the $250–500k range. I can send a one-page SOW after this call.”

Do not demo five cognitive modes. Offer a 10-minute pack walkthrough only if they ask.

Minute 24–30 · Close

If qualified:

“I’ll send the one-pager and SOW today. Who else needs to see it, and can we hold 20 minutes next week to review edits?”

If not qualified:

“It does not sound like a fit for a paid pilot this quarter. I will leave the one-pager with you; we can reopen when volume or audit pressure is clearer.”
